Are your passwords safe and unpredictable? In Dennis Faas article "Top 10 passwords you should never use" lists just that. Below is the list of the most predictable passwords:

123456	princess
12345	rockyou
123456789	1234567
Password	12345678
Iloveyou	abc123

So how can you prevent a hacker from guessing your password? First if any of your passwords match the above, change it. Secondly make passwords so they are at least 8 characters and mix them with upper and lower case letters, numbers, and symbols. Dennis Faas writes, "Passwords should be simple enough that they won't be too easily forgotten, but the idea is to make cracking the code virtually impossible for either an unknown or known hacker."

You can check your ATCJET.NET email even if you're out of town and away from your own computer. If you have access to the Internet, you just need to log on to webmail.atcjet.net (no www is needed). This gets you into the mail program. On the first screen that comes up, you'll need to log in using your complete email address for the username and then your password. After you log in, you'll be in your mail box and can read, send or delete messages. You can also log onto our web site at www.atcjet.net and check your email.
